A SERIES OF BOLD FORGERIES BY A KINGSTON CLEEK-FOOD SCARCE AND THE MARKET GOING TO FAMINE PRICES.

Kingston June 5, 1875. A series of forgeries of the most during kind have been perpetrated in Kingston by a clerk in a provision store. The names of some of the leading merchants have been cleverly lorged upon drafts, which were discounted, and by an accidental circumstance these were brought to light.

Meanwhile while the magisterial examination was progressing the forger was admitted to ball and is believed to have made his escape from the bland, disguised as a woman, on board the American three-masted schooner Engabeth large, from Old Harbor.

CATHOLIC CHURCH DEDICATION.

WASHINGTON.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, June 13, 1875, THE NEW GOVERNOR OF UTAH-THE PRESI-DENT'S POLICY REGARDING THE MORMONS TO BE CARRIED OUT.

Judge George W. Emery, of Nashville, Tenn., has received his appointment as Governor of Utah and will leave on Wednesday to succeed Governor Axtell. This is the third Governor Utah has had since the beginning of the year. The appointment of Mr. Emery has this significance, that Axtell was made Governor with the understanding that he would carry out the Presiden'ts policy in regard to Mormonism. He had scarcely taken the oath of office when it was found that Governor Axtell had a record, as a member of Congress, in sympathy with the Mormons, and his official course indicated that he was directly opposed to the President's policy. The complaints received in Washington were such as to require Assistant Secretary Cowan to visit Salt Lake City and personally examine the charges. The result is the displacement of Mr. Axtell, who, having strong political friends, has been appointed Governor of New Mexico, and makes room for one who, this time, is known to be in accord with the President in the government of the Mormon Territory. Judge Emery also enjoys the personal friendship of the President, and when the latter was embarrassed two years ago in reducing the number of supervisors of internal revenue, Mr. Emery, who had served with distinction in that office, relieved the President by his unconditional resignation. He also has the confidence of the Secretary of the Interior, and in his new field of labor will undoubtedly be supported by the administration as its exponent in the conduct of the affairs of the Territory of Utab.

GENERAL WASHINGTON DESPATCHES.

THE SECRETARY OF WAR ON THE EXAMINATION AT WEST POINT.

The Secretary of War, in a private letter from West Peint, expresses himself highly pleased with the examination of cadets at the Military Academy. The Law class, especially, showed great proficiency. General Butler and other legal gentlemen examined them thoroughly and lound them to be well advanced in that branch of their studies. The Secretary takes a great interest in the Military Academy, and it is his desire to have the young men in that institution thoroughly educated, not only in military science, but also in

THE SCHILLER MAILS RECEIVED IN WASHINGTON. Since the publication of the reception of a porion of the Scailler mail at the Post Office Department, a large number of letters have been received from different sections of the country making inquiries concerning them. Such letters are useless, as all such matter must go through the Dead Letter Office, when it will be examined in its turn, and if the writer's name can be decipared upon any letter or value, it will be returned to him without necessity for application at the department.

KIDNAPPING IN NEW JERSEY.

A LUTTLE GIRL ENTICED FROM HOME, INFER-NALLY TREATED AND SENT HOME.

West hoboken has been the theatre of another West Hoboken has been the theatre of another feverish excitement consequent on the kidnapping SHIPPING NEWS of a young girl while she was playing before her mother's door on Saturday evening. Although the circumstances of her abduction led to a timely search, and her return by the rullians at a late hour the same night, nevertheless the facts of the case demonstrate the existence of a state of things in New Jersey which calls for prompt precaution against the recurrence of similar outrages. Mr. Prolich is an industrious German in the employ of the North Hudson county Railroad Company, and resides in an isolated little house near the intersection of Paissate avenue and Cortlandt street, West Hoboken. The cottage is hidden among the trees, and is accessible only through a small orchard and garden on the south side. Between this place and the brow of the hill looking toward New York, are wacant lots, studded with shrubbery and rocks-a favorite resort of rowdies. On Saturday evening, between six and seven o'clock, Mr. Prouch's daughter Bertha, a bright, intelligent girl, ten years of age, was playing near the garden with her little brother, a child of five. While the little ones were romping a stout-built man, of dark complexion, about thirty years of age and apparently a laterer, approached them, and, turning to the little girl, said, "My darling, won't you come with me or a moment?" By repeated entreaties he capoled her into acquiescence, and she started with him through the wooded lots. The started with and tarough the wooded lots. The young brother, who can hardly speak plainly yet, became the agency tarough which she was liber-ated. In a lew minutes the father returned from his work, and, not finding Bertha, asked the little fellow where his sister was. The lad exclaimed in nis work, and not finding Bertha, asked the little fellow where his shier was. The lad excalmed in imperiect German, "A min Took My Sister Away, while she was playing with me." "Where did he bring her? "Up that way" pointing through the wood, sin the direction of Bull's Ferry. The latter grew distracted. He ran to the police office at West Hoberen, and informed the officers of the occurrence. He then rushed down to the police station at Weebawken and thence to the office at West Hoberen, and informed the officers and railway depots to watch for the abductor. These rapid operations must have become known to the gang who were concerned in the outrage, for about the hour of ten that high the two sig dogs in Frolich's orchard barked a welcome for some friend and the little girl came

The child was unable to give a estisiactory searchyton either of the individual of the place to which he had conveyed her, but from all that she was able to disclose, it appears that the abductor took her away in the direction of Bull's Perry and introduced her to a gang of mes, apparently inhorers. The insults and abuse to which here rumans there subjected her, were not particularized by Prolich, for ovvious reasons, but it would seem that every injury short or positive outrage was offered her. When light had fully set in, and the moon began to brighten, one of the gang led her back to the road, and with threats, told her to run home and say she had gone astray. Evidently they had watched the mancavres of the father, and the moon began to brighten, one of the gang led watched the mancavres of the father, and feather, are felt that it was a matter for congratulation that she had not undergone a lar worse father, see that of a violent death.
